BMC moving in right direction, other civic bodies should follow suit: HC on home vaccination

OMKAR GOKHALE
MUMBAI, AUGUST 12

STATING THAT the Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation (BMC) was "moving in the right direction" by vaccinating one-fourth of the total registered people who are either bedridden or immobile, the Bombay High Court on Thursday asked other civic bodies in Maharashtra to follow BMC's model to initiate similar drives.

On Tuesday, the BMC had informed the court that between July 30 and August 9, of the 4,889 registered beneficiaries, 1,317 people have been inoculated against Covid-19. "This figure constitutes roughly 25 per cent of total registered beneficiaries. Encouraging part is that none of the persons vaccinated had any adverse effects. We record our satisfaction that the BMC has been moving in the right direction."

tion. We expect the corporation to cover more such individuals in the days to come," the bench noted.

On August 10, the civic body had submitted an affidavit to a division bench of Chief Justice Dipankar Datta and Justice Girish S Kulkarni, which has been hearing a PIL filed by city-based lawyers Dhriti Kapadia and Kunal Tiwari seeking directions from the Centre, the state and the BMC to provide door-to-door vaccination to people aged above 75, the disabled and the bedridden.

Kapadia had submitted additional suggestions for effective improvement of the state government's policy for home vaccination of beneficiaries. The suggestions include effective monitoring of all beneficiaries for 48 hours post-vaccination at home and development of an application in which the medical history of the beneficiary can be stored which can be of immediate help in case of adverse reactions. The petitioners also said that all bedridden persons may not possess ID cards issued by the government, adding alternate option must be exercised in such cases. Kapadia said a helpline number should be provided for registration for home vaccination as everyone would not have access to digital platforms.

Frame policy to prevent families from owning 4-5 cars without own parking space: HC to govt

OMKAR GOKHALE
MUMBAI, AUGUST 12

OBSERVING THAT there will be chaos if a proper policy on vehicle parking is not formulated, the Bombay High Court on Thursday said that authorities should not allow families owning only one flat to have four or five cars if they do not have sufficient parking space available in their housing societies.

Maintaining that it expected the state to ensure that new and planned cities do not face issues due to illegal "on-street parking", it asked the Navi Mumbai planning authorities to be more alive to problems of traffic congestion being faced by the people of Mumbai due to roadside parking. The court said that BMC's decision to fine people Rs 10,000 for parking on the road despite the presence of a parking slot nearby has to be strictly implemented.

A division bench of Chief Justice Dipankar Datta and Justice Girish S Kulkarni was

Reduction in purchase of new cars is needed. You cannot have four or five cars in a family just because you can afford it unless requisite parking is granted in the society. It was mentioned earlier that the state would make it mandatory for everyone to show (availability of) parking space before vehicle registration. What is the status of that policy?"

hearing a PIL filed by RTI activist Sandeep Thakur challenging a government notification that had amended Unified Development Control and Promotion Regulations rules, reducing parking space allotted by developers.

The petitioner claimed that developers do not provide sufficient parking spaces in new high-rises, prompting residents to park vehicles outside society premises. The PIL sought to quash portions of "off-street" parking regulations framed by Navi Mumbai Municipal Corporation allegedly to favour developers. It also sought departmental inquiry and suitable action against officials involved in finalising the rules.

Thakur further sought directions to developers who had got development permissions after December 2, 2020 to provide sufficient parking inside housing complexes.

Justice Kulkarni orally observed: "All roads are flooded with vehicles and everywhere, 30 per cent space of roads is taken away by parking on both sides. It is a common phenomenon. These are genuine public concerns which have to be taken into consideration to come up with long term measures so that we do not have a chaotic society. There has to be a policy in place."

The court said that if illegal parking is not controlled, "less number of free paths will be left for coming generations". It added that the state can come up with a policy as per which a person would be allowed to buy a new vehicle only after he can prove that he has the space to park it.

"Reduction in purchase of new cars is needed. You cannot have four or five cars in a family just because you can afford it, unless requisite parking is granted in the (housing) society. It was mentioned earlier that the state would make it mandatory for everyone to show (availability of) parking space before vehicle registration. What is the status of that policy?" the HC asked.

It also suggested that state and civic authorities should permit multi-level basement parking in housing or commercial complexes and adopt similar measures taken by Pune.

The HC directed state lawyer Manish Pable to file a reply to the PIL within two weeks while maintaining that no further extension will be given to state to file a response.

Additional Government Pleader Geeta Shastri, representing the state government, submitted that the suggestions were forwarded to state Covid-19 task force for its consideration and appropriate action will be taken for benefit of immobile persons.

The Court also recorded that the Mira-Bhayander and Thane municipal corporations have also started home vaccination in areas covered by them.

On questions raised by the petitioners regarding the role of NGOs in such drives, the BMC had said that it took the help of many organisations in some wards for additional manpower and ambulance services.

With respect to the nature of support received from NGOs, presently there is nothing on record precluding the corporation from taking help from NGOs to administer vaccines," the court observed.

The HC told the authorities to inform it about further developments based on its directives and posted hearing of the PIL to September 9.

BMC starts fifth sero survey

Mumbai: The BMC on Thursday began its fifth sero survey to collect evidence of past exposure to Covid-19 virus and spread of infection in the population.

The civic body has carried out four such surveys since last March when the pandemic began. While the first and second sero surveys were conducted in July and August 2020 in three wards, the third one was conducted in March 2021 in 24 wards. The fourth survey was conducted from May to June in the pediatric age group.

"BMC has undertaken the fifth survey with the help of IDFC Institute and ATE (Chandaria Foundation) in all 24 wards for slum areas," said a civic official. For non-slum areas, the survey will be held in clinics of selected general medical practitioners. ENS

Cops must be in uniform when taking action against anyone violating rules, says Nagrale

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
MUMBAI, AUGUST 12

MUMBAI Police Commissioner Hemant Nagrale on Thursday issued a circular to all police stations and the traffic department instructing police personnel to wear their uniform at all times while taking action against any person violating rules.

In his order, Nagrale said that the practice of wearing civil clothes when penalising violators while on police duty has inadvertently led to a rise in criminal elements like fraudsters posing as police personnel to defraud senior citizens and women, which also affects the reputation of the department.

Sources said police stations are currently given the responsibility of fining people who are found wearing in public places without wearing face masks. According to the Mumbai Police, 4,27,025 people have been fined Rs 200 since February 19. Crime Branch officials and detection staff have been exempted from wearing police uniform while on duty as their job demands secrecy.

The order read, "It has been observed that several police officers and constable take action in civil clothes. Taking advantage of which several criminals pose as police officials and under the pretext of fining people, steal money from senior citizens and women."

Nagrale has said that if any police personnel is found penalising violators in civil clothes, then action will be taken against them and the police inspectors in charge of that department.

BPCL Q1 profit down 28% to ₹1,502 cr

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, August 12

PRIVATISATION-BOUND
BHARAT Petroleum (BPL) on Thursday reported a 27.6% drop in June quarter net profit at ₹1,501.65 crore.

The nation's second largest oil refiner and fuel marketing company had a net profit of ₹2,076.17 crore in April-June 2020-21, the company said in a regulatory filing. The profit was lower as a sharp movement in oil prices — from $19-20 per barrel to $40 — in April-June quarter of 2020 led to a spike in marketing margins. This year, the movement has been range-bound. Revenue from operations rose to ₹89,687.12 crore in April-June this year from ₹50,616.92 crore last year.

With fuel demand rebounding on a pick-up in economic activity, BPCL refineries processed 6.84 million tonne of crude oil in the first quarter of the current fiscal year, up from 5.4 million tonne a year ago.

Refinery throughput was however lower than 8.39 million tonne of January-March, mainly because of the impact of the second wave of Covid-19 on fuel demand and economic activity. BPCL sold 9.63 million tonne of petroleum products in first quarter, up from 7.53 million tonne in the year-ago period but lower than 11.17 million tonne in the preceding quarter. The company earned $4.12 on turning every barrel of crude oil into fuel during April-June, up from a gross refining margin of $0.39 per barrel in first quarter last year.

BPCL had reported a record net profit of ₹11,940.13 crore in January-March largely because of the sale of its stake in Numaliarh Refinery to a consortium led by Oil India.

Bharat Forge posts profit of ₹154 crore in Q1

FE BUREAU
Pune, August 12

BHARAT FORGE reported a consolidated net profit of ₹153.65 crore for the June quarter compared to the loss of ₹125.81 crore it posted in the June quarter of the previous fiscal. Consolidated revenues grew 82% year-on-year (y-o-y) to ₹2,107.68 crore on the back of growth in exports. The company's exports grew by 25.3% to ₹915.6 crore.

The company's profits were lower due to an expense of ₹616.47 crore for Voluntary Retirement Scheme offered to 200 employees at its Chakan plant in June 2021. B N Kalyani, chairman and managing director, Bharat Forge, said the company managed to deliver a solid performance across the board during the quarter despite challenges posed by the Covid lockdown and subsequent impact on economic activity in India.

Despite significant across the board input cost pressures, Ebitda margins have expanded 300 basis points (bps) on back of favourable product mix, Kalyani said. During the quarter, the company completed the acquisition of Sanghvi Forgings at a cost of ₹77.06 crore. This company is into manufacture of heavy forging for industrial applications.

Kalyani expects overall growth to continue in Q2FY22, supported by recovery in the domestic MHCV market and sustained improvement in demand levels in the export market. The company is keeping a watch on semiconductor supply issues and increase of input costs in the coming months.

area did not witness even a single case, the BMC said. Out of the 6,992 cases, 6,596 patients have recovered, the official said. There are only 16 active COVID-19 cases in this slum colony at present.

ANTILIA BOMB SCARE

Considered serious charges, depth of probe, says court

Grants 30 more days to investigation agency to file chargesheet

STAFF REPORTER mail@fpj.co.in

A special National Investigation Agency (NIA) court, while giving its nod for 30 more days' time last week to file the chargesheet in the case related to the bomb scare outside industrialist Mukesh Ambani's residence and the murder of businessman Mansukh Hiran, has said in a detailed order that it considered the seriousness of allegations and depth of probe while doing so.

A vehicle laden with explosives was found outside Antilia early this year firm view that the learned public prosecutor has considered the progress in the investigation and the part of the investigation that is yet to be completed in proper perspective and that after applying mind independently he has submitted the report."

The court said that in view of the matter, it would be just to extend detention of the accused and grant time for investigation for a period of 30 more days.

This is the second time the court has extended time for filing the chargesheet, after having given 60-day extension earlier.

The court further said in its order that it has perused the case diary that has been placed on record and is satisfied that the reasons cited by the prosecutor for the extension of detention are sound and are based on material that are placed before him by the investigating agency.

The NIA had sought extension of time by citing that sanction was required under a provision of the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act to prosecute the accused and without this, the court could not take cognizance of the offence.

It had submitted that time would be required to collect relevant documents, forward the proposal for sanction and to obtain it. The agency had further said that the data was voluminous and that the larger conspiracy is spread over several parts of Maharashtra and that the NIA team has to visit scenes of crime on several occasions as part of the probe.

BMC issues notice to more than 300 slum dwellers for illegal construction

The move comes after a house collapse claimed four lives in Govandi on July 23

PRATIP ACHARYA pratip.acharya@fpj.co.in

The Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation (BMC) has issued notices to more than 300 slum dwellers living at Makhurd-Shivaji Nagar and Govandi in the eastern suburbs for illegal extension of their residential properties.

The BMC move came after a house collapsed in Govandi on July 23 killing four persons of the same family. According to the BMC, shanties or huts that are above the height of 14 feet are illegal and the civic officials have said that most of the slums violate the guidelines by constructing additional floors.

Following the July 23 incident, the M East (ME) ward office of the BMC had started issuing fresh notices to the slum dwellers.

"We have issued notices to more than 300 owners, who have illegal extensions of

The civic body said most slums violate guidelines by adding more floors their slums. We will demolish the structure if they don't do it by themselves. In the past one week, we have demolished seven of such structures," said Mahendra Ubale, assistant municipal commissioner and in-charge of ME ward.

Ubale has said that the BMC is identifying illegal structures and reaching out to their owners and by the end of this month, they plan to demolish more such structure. "We cannot say how many structures will be demolished as we have not set any target. We are in the process of serving notices to the slums and demolishing on our own, if they fail to do so," said Ubale.

Another senior civic official requesting anonymity said that after notices were served on the residents, many of them responded and sought the BMC's help to raze the illegal parts of the structures. "We are only bringing down the portions that are illegal, often the slum dwellers don't have the manpower and logistics to demolish them. So they approach us," said the official. Local Samajwadi Party legislator Abu Azmi supported the move and said that illegal residents would not be given any kind of alternate rehabilitation. "Those who extend their properties do it illegally and this is a threat to people living there. The BMC is demolishing all the properties that were illegal and those who have constructed those structures, will not be given any kind of compensation," Azmi told FPJ on Thursday.

Sarfraz Ahmed, a local social worker, said that the BMC should bring a permanent solution to the illegal construction, so that more lives could be saved.

Man jailed for 4 yrs for stalking minor after absconding

BHAVNA UCHIL bhavna.uchil@fpj.co.in

A 28-year-old daily wager ended up spending over four years in jail in a case of stalking a 12-year-old girl after he absconded while on bail and was not granted bail again.

The youth was accused of winking, passing lewd comments and following the minor a couple of times.

The Govandi resident had been arrested the same day the complaint was lodged in March 2017 by the child's mother. Though he had been released on bail ten months later in January 2018, the accused had landed up again in prison as he had stopped attending the court. When he did not attend the court, it had issued a non-bailable warrant against him. The man was then arrested and produced before the court four months after being released on bail. Since then, he had been in custody.

On Tuesday, a special court designated under the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act (POCSO) convicted him, but imposed a sentence that he would undergo only the period he had already undergone in jail. It imposed a fine of Rs 1,000 on him in default of which, he would have to spend another three days in jail.

The victim, the daughter of a vegetable vendor, had come crying towards her mother and told her that when she had gone to buy milk, a man had winked at her, offered her Rs 100 and told her to come with him. She got frightened and fled. Her parents then went in search of the youth.

The victim pointed him out to them while he was having an ice cream at a nearby market. Her father had then caught hold of him and slapped him. A mob beat him too, before taking him to the police station where the report was lodged.

Teenager duped of Rs 4 lakh while trying to sell phone online

The Kurla police registered an offence against unknown cyber fraudsters after they allegedly duped a teenage boy of Rs 4 lakh.

Though the fraud had taken place in the first week of June, the teenager hid the matter from his parents for the past two months. On June 1, the victim, who wanted to sell his iPhone, shared photographs of the phone on a popular online marketplace. As soon as he shared the images, the boy received a call from an unknown number and the caller identified himself as Vikas.

According to the police, Vikas was ready to buy it for Rs 17,000 and the boy also agreed with the price. Vikas claimed that he would make payment online and asked mobile number linked to mobile banking. Then the accused asked the boy to transfer Rs 5 and Vikas also transferred Rs 5. Later the accused asked to transfer Rs 10 and returned it immediately.

Later, Vikas asked the boy to pay Rs 5,000 and the teenager, who was unaware of the fraud, transferred the money. This time, Vikas did not return him anything and continued to demand more money.

Soon, Vikas asked the boy to share the OTP received on his mother's mobile phone and as the victim shared the OTP, Rs 1 lakh had been debited from her account, said the police.

For the next two days, Vikas continued to ask for the OTP numbers which the boy had shared, said police. When the teenager asked to return the money, Vikas stopped entertaining his calls. Recently when the teenager's father updated his passbook he was shocked to see the transactions of Rs 4.07 lakh. When he asked his son about it, he narrated the entire story, said police. - Sachin Gaad

Court: Sex that led to paralysis 'unfortunate', can't say illegal

Sessions court grants pre-arrest bail to husband in dowry harassment case where woman alleged marital rape led to paralysis

BHAVNA UCHIL bhavna.uchil@fpj.co.in

An exception to the offence of rape under the IPC reads that sexual intercourse or sexual acts of a man with his own wife, the wife not being below 15 years of age, is not rape.

A sessions court has granted pre-arrest bail to a man and four members of his family in a dowry harassment case, in which the wife had also alleged forcible sex that led to waist-down paralysis. The court observed that while the young girl suffering paralysis was unfortunate, being her husband the man cannot be said to have committed anything illegal.

Additional sessions judge Sanjashree J Gharat stated in her order; "It is the further grievance of the complainant that the husband committed sexual intercourse with her against her wish." The court went on to say, "However, it cannot be said that he committed any illegal thing."

An exception to the offence of rape under the Indian Penal Code reads that sexual intercourse or sexual acts of a man with his own wife, the wife not being below 15 years of age, is not rape.

Thus, marital rape is still not a crime in India. The court called it "very unfortunate" that the young girl suffered from paralysis.

It said that the man and his parents cannot be held responsible for this. The woman, who got married in November last year, had complained that one month after marriage her husband had started committing forcible sexual intercourse. In January, after an intercourse, she had started feeling unwell. When she went to a doctor, she was informed that she had suffered paralysis below her waist.

In her complaint, the woman alleged that her in-laws put restrictions on her; taunted, abused and demanded dowry. The husband and his family claimed protection from arrest, stating they had been falsely implicated and that they had not demanded dowry. The court remarked on this aspect that while the woman had claimed that she was mistreated by the family for not paying dowry, she had not specified what was the demand made by them.

Two dupe elderly women of Rs 15K by posing as BMC employees

The Kandivali police arrested a person for allegedly duping an elderly woman of Rs 15,000 by posing as Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation (BMC) officials. The police launched a search for his accomplice and registered an offence against the duo based on the complaint.

The accused duo, who work at a toll collection plaza, reportedly told the victim, a resident of Mahavir Nagar in Kandivali (W), that the renovation work that was going on in her flat was illegal. According to Kandivali Police sources, the complainant was renovating her house last month and the accused, identified as Avinash Gaikwad and Satish Tambat, approached her claiming to be the BMC officials. They allegedly told her that the renovation work was not given permission by the BMC and claimed that she was violating the rules. The police arrested Gaikwad while his accomplice Tambat is absconding. The duo also allegedly threatened to penalise her and later agreed to 'settle' the matter if she had paid them Rs 15,000, to which the woman complied.

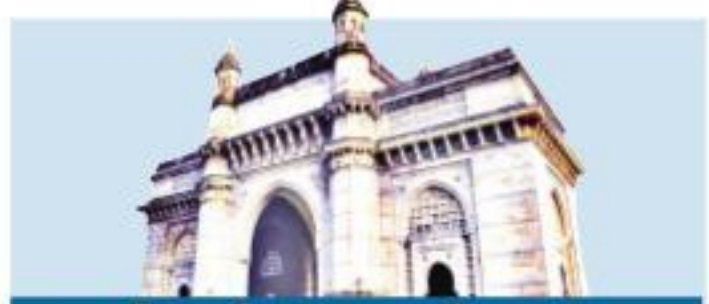

A few days later, when she inquired at the BMC ward office, she learnt that no such employees were given the power to penalise unauthorised renovation and realised that she had been duped. - Staff Reporter
